

THE TRAILBLAZERS MEET AT DIXBORO

ONE HUNDRED AND FORTY ATTENDED BIG MEETING HELD THERE LAST SATURDAY.

The Trail Blazers and the teachers of the helping teacher zone met at Dixboro last Saturday.

The following helping teachers were present: Ruth Severer, Amy Person, Hildegrade Grafte, Hildred Gross, Edna Freeman, Marion Williamson, Ortel Krousse and Greta Pardon.

The teachers of the zone present were Mrs. Freida Harrow, Alma Bolgos, Sara Rice, Mrs. Oscar Blaess, Carrie Crippen, Mrs. Saida Dixon, also Dr. Pittman and Commissioner Evan Essery.

The morning program included special devices in teaching of spelling, conducted by Miss Pardon. The discussion that followed centered around the methods worked out by the teachers of the zone.

Miss Amy Person gave a demonstration of an eighth grade arithmetic lesson, after which a general discussion of the points brought out followed. A critical observer had to acknowledge that the teachers were able to give clear ideas of what they wanted to accomplish.

After the morning program the teachers and children partook of a bounteous dinner of roast beef, potatoes, vegetables, salads, rolls, coffee, apple pie and ice cream.

Mrs. Edith Willis, Mrs. Scheir, Mrs. Schmid, Mrs. Parker and Mrs. Earl Quackenbush served the dinner in the hall above the store.

A moving picture of the dinner and guests was taken. One interesting feature after dinner was a moving picture of all the automobiles filled with children and adults driving up in front of the church and getting out to enter for the spelling contest.

To make the picture complete and to show that there are other means of conveyance in Michigan than the automobile an open buggy and a lumber wagon well filled with children was in the procession.

The spelling contest, both written and oral, was based on 1,500 words used by children. The spelling contest was held in the schoolhouse and also in the church. The champions of the different grades will be announced later. A feature of the contest was a moving picture that was taken in each place of the children.

The federal bureau of education, having learned of the experiment that Dr. Pittman has been carrying on in the ten schools in the zone, made arrangements to have moving pictures taken of some features of the program. The films will be shown in the Pease auditorium Thursday, May 25, at the time of the eighth grade graduating exercises of southeastern Washtenaw.

One hundred and forty adults and children attended the meeting, representing patrons, teachers and children from nearly all of the districts of the zone. The number was so large that it was thought an attempt to publish the same would lead to many omissions.

Dr. Pittman says that the ten districts of Wayne county that attended the dinner given by the Kiwanis club of Ypsilanti recently have asked him to carry out the same work there that he has been doing in Washtenaw this year.

Representatives of 30 districts of Washtenaw were present at the dinner. Six districts of the present zone in Washtenaw have asked for a continuation of the zone next year. This shows an appreciation of the patrons of the benefits derived this year. It is expected that enough districts of this county will respond so as to admit of the formation of three zones in Washtenaw next year.

STOLEN AUTO FOUND NEAR TOLEDO SUNDAY

Friday night of last week parties entered the garage of S. E. Howe, local coal dealer, and stole his new Dodge touring car. Sunday word was received from the Toledo police that the car had been found. The car had been stripped of its tires and accessories.

The car was recently bought of Joseph Thompson, Dodge dealer here, and was insured in the Auto Owners' Insurance company of Lansing. Saturday morning a new car was furnished Mr. Howe and he was without a car only one day.

It is said that the police have pretty good evidence who the thieves are and that an arrest may be expected any minute.

TWO INJURED BY AUTOS LAST FRIDAY

Friday afternoon Thelma Hopkins, the little seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Hopkins, of 512 First street, was knocked down by an auto driven by James Williams as she was attempting to cross Cross street on her way home from school. She suffered a severe scalp wound and was considerably bruised.

It is said that the car did not have a license nor did Williams have a driver's license.

The same day Thomas Mitchell, a Normal training school pupil, was knocked down by an auto in front of the training school as he was crossing the street, but was not seriously injured.

There have been several accidents on this street, resulting from careless driving. While none of them so far have been of a serious nature, if something is not done there is bound to be a serious accident happen on this street. A few good stiff fines or a jail sentence to some of these birds who like to show speed on this street might have its effect.

THIS MAN IS WORTHY AND NEEDS YOUR HELP

Mario Anzaldi, an Italian, of Detroit, moved to Ypsilanti township 11 months ago with his wife, aged 17 years. Since their advent here a baby was born, who is now four months old. Mario was ordered to go to the country by his physician on account of tubercular trouble and to give up his occupation as a tailor. A man in the vicinity of Stony Creek had some sheep to herd, so Mario took this work at $10 a month. He did other odd jobs, too, but at last had to ask the poor commissioners of Ypsilanti township to help him.

Justice Curtiss, a member of the board, stated that they had given Anzaldi assistance. He is trying to obtain some light work for him and stated that the man is willing to work at anything he can do.

MAY STAY FOR SOME TIME.

Frank Eberhart appeared at the city hall Monday night and asked for a place to sleep. Chief Connors started to take him to the sleeping quarters, when he remembered that the U. S. Pressed Steel company had told him about a certain man whom they suspected of stealing a part of some machinery. He asked Eberhart his name and learned he was the man suspected. Eberhart got the lodging Tuesday noon he was still lodging in the city jail.

CHAPTER I.

Four miles from Ithaca, N. Y., Oscar Bennett's farm spread its acres along the face of West Hill between the Lehigh Valley tracks and the highway leading to Trumansburg. Oscar Bennett was what the country people and even the Ithaca folks called a fine farmer. His farmhouse faced a lane that led to the west shore of Lake Cayuga, and from the front porch he could see, much to his dislike, the few straggling squatter shacks that brought to an end northward the Silent City. Like all other substantial citizens, Oscar detested the squatters. In his estimation they were a set of thieving loafers and sneaks, and many times he had wished that he owned the ground they squatted on instead of Marcus MacKenzie.

Of course it was no secret that MacKenzie never let an opportunity slip to pop a fisherman into jail, but in Bennett's opinion that treatment was not severe enough, and besides, it did not accomplish anything. MacKenzie's idea was to jail the men whenever the chance came and for a period as long as the law would allow. But what good did that do? Fierce hatred flamed in the haggard faces of the women, and they held to their squatter rights with the tenacity of leeches until their husbands were given back to them. Bennett would have done away with the wives and mothers if the job of breaking up the Silent City had been his. No man would hang to a hut long without a woman in it.

One morning in the early spring Oscar was finishing his breakfast when the door opened slowly. A girl with a small tin pail in her hand stepped into the room. She smiled at him almost humbly.

"Shut the door!" he shouted at her. "Where's your manners, Polly Hopkins? Can't you see the rain's coming in after you?"

The smile faded from the girl's face. Mechanically she turned, closed the door and, uninvited, seated herself in a chair and placed the pail at her side.

"So you've come begging, Pollyop," went on the farmer, wiping his lips on the sleeve of his gingham shirt. "Well, you might as well turn tail and run home again, for you're not going to get anything more from me. I don't want a poacher's brat around here."

SUPERVISOR SAYS TAX STATEMENT MISLEADING

George Crippen, supervisor of Superior township, was a caller at The Record office this week and suggested that where he was quoted in the supervisors' proceedings last week in regard to assessing horses that there was a chance for a misunderstanding. The article read that Mr. Crippen assessed farm machinery on the basis of 30 per cent of the cost after one year's use and 10 per cent off each additional year until the cost had reached 40 per cent and after that no assessment should be made.

Mr. Crippen states the state tax commissioner gave him these figures as a fair rate for assessment, but as long as there was a value to the machinery it should be taxed, even when it reaches 40 per cent and

PEDDLERS MUST PAY THE CITY LICENSE

Peddlers who are in the habit of offering their wares in Ypsilanti without a license are going to get in bad in the future if they don't visit the city clerk and get out the proper credentials. Chief Connors has his orders and is going to be on the lookout for all peddlers.

Outside bread peddlers are required to pay a license of $100 to peddle their bread in this city, and in the future the city is going to see that this license is paid.

KIWANIS CLUB HEAR COL. EMERY

TOLD OF HIS RECENT TRIP THROUGH FRANCE AND OF THE FINE RECEPTION RECEIVED.

Colonel John G. Emery, of Grand Rapids, was the speaker Wednesday at the meeting of the Kiwanis club. Colonel Emery was introduced by Dr. Harry B. Britton, who referred to him as a piece of heavy artillery. Major Emery is a candidate for United States senator, but he did not say anything about that fact in his speech. He told about a trip he and a large number of American officers had recently taken through France and Belgium.

He told of the hearty welcome given them by the French people, including the wounded of France. Carpets were laid for their march and it seemed everyone owned an American flag. Major Emery told of marching through the soldiers' arch, where only the victorious ever marched through. There was some discussion about letting the Americans go through, which was settled at once by Marshal Foch, who said: "Let the Americans through. They have never turned back."

Major Emery told about his placing a tablet on the house in which Marshal Foch was born and also visiting the grave of Marshal Foch's son, who is buried with 20 others where they fell in battle. The great marshal, he said, intends to leave his son remain there among the other common soldiers who fell with him.

Major Emery told of a small city in France where 10 per cent of the total population were killed in the war. That would mean here in your city that 800 of your young men were killed in battle, he said. He told of the permanent world's exhibit at the city of Lyons, the building being built in the shape of a huge skeleton, where all kinds of goods were on display. The students of Strasburg university for the past 42 years had gathered around the German statue there from 12 to 1 at night once a year in silent protest of the German occupation of Alsace-Lorraine, now in French hands.

The French, he stated, said: "We know you Americans won the war. We were bled white and had our backs against the wall." A very different attitude than that taken by the British, Major Emery stated, who say: "We are very grateful to you Americans for the assistance you gave us in our winning the war." The French in one little city, he stated, had no money to rebuild their churches, schools and factories, yet they raised $20,000 to build a monument in honor of the Americans. The French cemeteries where American soldiers are buried, he said, are kept green and beautiful, while in England they are weedy and neglected.

He told of a Frenchman who was ennobled by Marshal Foch at a banquet. The speaker, he said, was pretty well in his cups and finally said to Marshal Foch: "Tell us how you won the war." The marshal, Major Emery said, replied: "By drinking water." At Brussels in the palace of King Albert, Major Emery said, they were served only with tea and coffee, as the king of Belgium said to them in your own country you cannot get anything to drink and in respect for your laws nothing stronger can be served in my palace. Two thousand war orphans at Paris bid us good-bye and every one had an American flag waving it. They presented the Americans with 100 pounds of candy for the orphans here in this country.

France showed her great heart to the Americans, Major Emery said, and the trip did bring the veterans of France and America closer together.

A resolution was adopted upholding President Charles McKenny and Dean Bessie L. Priddy in their stand taken in the expulsion of certain girl students. The resolution was prepared by Attorney T. L. Towner, Dr. H. Barrs and Maurice G. Day, representing the Ypsilanti Board of Commerce. These men made an investigation of the Normal college records and stated that no other action than the one taken could have been taken by the Normal.

Harry Gilmore, Joe Thompson and Harry Sutherland were named as the "On to Toronto" committee.

Dr. George Sattenfield was introduced as a new member and was welcomed by Rev. C. S. Burns.

Rev. Fr. Needham was introduced as a guest and gave a brief talk.

HOUSE FLOODED CAUSE FAMILY TO VACATE

The house of Martin Butzko, 52 Race street, was flooded so badly Monday by the Huron river overflowing that Dr. Pillsbury found it necessary to move the family to other quarters.

The house is under quarantine for diphtheria, one of the Butzko children having the malady. The child was moved to the residence of Mr. Russ, near by, whose house is also quarantined for the same disease.

REGULAR SESSION OF CITY COUNCIL

SET ASIDE APRIL 26 AS CLEAN-UP DAY—DECIDE TO PAVE OAKWOOD AVENUE AT ONCE.

The city council met in regular session Monday night. It was decided at this meeting to designate Wednesday, April 26, as city clean-up day, the city to furnish the teams and workmen to pick up the rubbish.

Citizens are asked to clean out their cellars and yards during the week and place their tin cans and rubbish on the curb in front of their property. Ashes are not included in this order.

At the last council meeting Alderman Worden asked that the rate in the city be reduced. Manager Older was present at the meeting Monday night and said that the rate could be reduced, but would rather let the present rate stand for the present; that as soon as the new equipment for cutting the pressure has been installed that less gas would be consumed and that gas bills could then be cut.

Alderman Lathers introduced an ordinance relative to the building of gas or oil filling stations in residence districts. This ordinance also included auto repair and service stations and salesrooms. It provides that no buildings for these purposes where three-fourths of the buildings on either side for a distance of 500 feet are dwellings or buildings for educational purposes. The ordinance was laid over until the next meeting.

A petition came in from the second ward asking the council to adopt an ordinance banning all billboards inside the city limits and to destroy all boards used for advertising purposes now in use. Referred to the ordinance committee.

The business and professional women of the city asked the council for a tree planting ceremony on May 4. On this day Jesse Ackerman, world traveler, is to be the guest of the club. It is the aim to place the tree on the north side of the city hall. The request was granted.

The council decided to buy the chief of police a new car, as the old one has been in use for two years and is not speedy enough to chase up the speed fiends who are in the habit of racing on Cross street.

An estimated cost of paving as outlined by the council at its last meeting was handed in and gave the cost of the paving on each street as follows: Normal to Michigan, $7,026.95; North Washington to Huron street, $6,843.05; West Cross street to city limits, $9,736.05.

It was decided by the council to go ahead with the Oakwood avenue pavement at once. It was also decided to buy a new concrete mixer, not to exceed $550.

The city clerk and mayor were authorized to sell $5,000 worth of liberty bonds now on the bridge road to meet a bridge fund of $5,000 soon to fall due.

Several other smaller items of the city were taken care of and the council adjourned to meet Friday evening, April 28.

LOCAL STARS TO APPEAR IN KEEP OFF THE GRASS

The large cast for "Keep Off the Grass," the big musical comedy to be presented at the Wuerthe theatre on the night of April 28, under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the American Legion, is now practically complete and a remarkable and formidable array of talent has been assured.

This will be by far the most pretentious amateur production ever attempted in this city and promises something entirely different in the line of home talent performances. "Keep Off the Grass" is a fast-moving and snappy show, more on the order of a professional performance and is interpreted by a bunch of clever principals and a bevy of beautiful girls.

There is a clever and amusing plot running through, embellished with much humor and exhilarating comedy lines and situations. Blended with this are the latest song hits, special musical numbers, sprightly dances and gorgeously costumed choruses of peppy girls—just the kind of a show the theatre-going public wants to see. The Jordans always feature a strong singing and dancing show and the various choruses are receiving much time and attention at each rehearsal. About 35 of the city's prettiest and most popular young ladies are members of the different ensembles.

"Keep Off the Grass" is a guaranteed production. "Your money's worth or you get it back" is its slogan. It is sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the American Legion in an appeal for the Roosevelt hospital for tubercular soldiers at Camp Custer.

The play is under the personal direction of Mr. and Mrs. Jean Jordan, of the Jordan-Detroit Producing company. These directors are professional people, who use purely professional methods in directing their plays.

TUTTLE HILL

There was a large attendance at the Easter exercises at Friends church Sunday morning. The pastor gave a good talk on the Resurrection, after which Willis Moore, assistant superintendent of the Sunday school, took charge of the program. Following a song by the choir the pastor, Rev. James Park, read the first 19 verses of the 20th chapter of John and offered prayer. Recitations were given by Helen Raymond, Dorothy Maubetsch, Richard Schneider, Esther Maubetsch, Katherine Schneider, Lester Dicks and Mrs. C. C. Robbins. Several pretty exercises were given by groups from the various classes—one by Leon Jones and Bernard Hearl; another by five girls, Ruth Aitken, Mary Essex, Helen Raymond, Grace Martin and Margaret Beckington. The girls wore the royal purple and made a pretty picture before the lovely purple and white background that made up the decorations at the altar. The little tots of the primary class, Woodrow Jones, Leota Schaefer, Evelyn Park and Tommy Beckington gave a pretty exercise. Allyn Hearl and Donald Hearl gave a recitation, each taking part of a poem. Donald Schaefer and Lester Dicks spoke very nicely. Seven girls, Ruth Martin, Crystal Frisbie, Ruth Thompson, Esther Maubetsch, Vivian Hewens, Lucile Hearl and Katherine Schneider gave the pantomime, "Rock of Ages." Miss Marjorie Moore giving the song. The choir had several appropriate songs. The services concluded with the benediction by the pastor. The decorations were pronounced by many the most beautiful ever shown at the church. Mrs. Clyde Breining and Mrs. John Jones did the work. The colors, royal purple and white, were very effective. In the center was a white cross with a single lily. White lilies in pots were placed on the altar rail, which was wound with white. The effect was beautiful.

Warm Weather Clothes

Warm summer days bring promise of outdoor tasks and the accompanying need for cooler apparel. Dull wintry work garments are put aside for something more comfortable and of fresher appearance. We have a new line of house dresses that are really different—they are pretty and stylish as well as practical and serviceable. They come in several new materials this year. We have black sateen affairs trimmed in burnt orange. There are cotton crepes with lovely oriental embroidery and appliques. Then again we find the crisp checkered ginghams in green, blue, yellow, and pink. These are just enough "be-decorated" to launder with ease.

Mother will be interested in her little daughter's springtime apparel, too. Diminutive coats and capes of the same materials as those of grown-ups we find especially attractive in shades particularly suited to childish wearers. Frocks are more than charming. All the dainty colors of organdie combine in the "Sunday" creations. Little sister wears yellow with touches of periwinkle with as much charm as her elder sister. Serviceable gingham dresses in individual patterns will keep children attractive even in their most boisterous play. Mother can now buy most reasonably the very garments which used to take her many tedious hours to make for herself and little ones or the warm summer days.

Why tonic value is greater in this yeast

Yeast Foam Tablets are made entirely of pure whole yeast—the richest source of the tissue-building vitamin

The amazing tonic properties of yeast, and its consequent popularity everywhere, have offered opportunities which patent medicine makers and others have been quick to capitalize.

The resulting flood of so-called vitamin preparations reveals many products which contain precious little yeast and insignificant quantities of vitamin.

Remember these facts

It is of utmost importance to you to remember that Yeast Foam Tablets are made entirely of pure whole yeast—that their vitamin content is proved by actual test to be both high and uniform—that they are endorsed by leading medical scientists—and that they are made by yeast experts, the world's largest manufacturers of dry yeast.

By virtue of these facts you are definitely assured that Yeast Foam Tablets have an exceedingly high tonic value—and that is what you really want.

You may take them with the positive knowledge that they will aid assimilation, promote growth and the formation of firm, healthy tissue, and that through these processes you will experience an energizing and generally upbuilding effect.

Take Yeast Foam Tablets for these conditions

Yeast Foam Tablets, which are so rich in the tonic and tissue-forming vitamin, are recommended for loss of appetite; indigestion; lack of physical strength and energy; anaemia; skin disorders; nervous troubles and many forms of vitamin deficiency and general ill health known as "run down" conditions.

The name, Yeast Foam Tablets, is your protection. It is your guarantee of purity and known vitamin potency. Ask for this yeast by its full name. There is nothing just the same or "just as good." Get a bottle from your druggist today.

MATRONS STAND BY THE COLLEGE FACULTY

Mrs. O. M. Miles, president of the Normal college, stated this morning that this organization was in a better position than any other in the city to judge of the expulsions recently made by college authorities of a number of students on account of rule infractions, and that in her opinion the expulsions were justified.

At a meeting of the Matrons' association held in Starkweather hall the following resolutions were adopted by 200 matrons present:

A large majority of the ladies composing the Ypsilanti Matrons' association met at Starkweather hall Wednesday afternoon and unanimously endorsed the following statement:

Whereas, because of our unusual opportunity for having the conditions of student life at the Michigan State Normal college under observation, and also having intimate knowledge of some of the dangers and pitfalls attendant upon college life, and further realizing in a measure the vital importance of sending out to be teachers in the schools of our state only those students who have acquired self-control and integrity of character as well as scholastic and professional training;

Therefore we do most heartily commend the management of the Normal college in their efforts to preserve the good name of our Normal college and protect the interests of all students entrusted to their care. We realize most acutely the difficult task of the management of the college and especially the dean of women, Mrs. Bessie Leach Priddy, who is the advisor of nearly 1,400 girls, and pledge to them our support in all efforts to maintain right standards of decorum and social conduct. We have seen no evidence of unreasonable stringency in college rules and we believe these rules should be enforced in the interests of the good name of the students and the public welfare. We have found Mrs. Priddy to be very lenient and patient, slow to judge, except with positive proof; but we believe the time comes when patience ceases to be a virtue and when action must be taken if we are to preserve the good name of our college and maintain our self-respect. We most earnestly petition the state board of education and all in authority to see to it that the management of the Normal college have all necessary support in their task. It is possible for one girl of loose habits to demoralize a whole group of clean, right-minded girls. Such incidents are of common knowledge to all observing people, and there must be authority vested in the college management to eliminate such cases of moral contagion. The idea that such authority does not and can not exist is destructive and can only lead to incalculable harm. The first duty of any people who wish or hope for an honorable future is the right training of its youth. Any person who lowers the ideals of any group, either by influence or conduct, should not be considered suitable to occupy a position as a teacher. Do the parents of Michigan wish to be compelled by law to send their children to schools taught by cigarette-smoking teachers, either men or women? Is any girl or boy who insists that they have a right to smoke, roam the streets and parks at unreasonable hours of the night, a suitable person to be given a life certificate to teach in the schools of Michigan? We express the profound conviction that the people of Michigan should of the present situation and make their sentiments and wishes known in no uncertain manner. We urge you to write to your state board of education.

The Matrons' association is composed of the women of the city who keep student roomers.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS ADJOURN TILL TUESDAY

Tuesday afternoon the board of supervisors adjourned to meet next week Tuesday, April 25, at 10 a. m. The motion to adjourn was made when George McCalla requested a reconsideration of the board's action in sidetracking the road building fund at the October session. Mr. McCalla told the board that he state of the present finances would make further work on the county roads impossible until the county paid what was due to the state. He stated that work could go on if the board would reappropriate two road funds determined by them at the October session, one of $32,000 for the construction of the Webster-Northfield road and the other $50,500 for the Plymouth road. He said that he had received word from Frank Rogers, state highway commissioner, that no further work could be considered by the state until the state is paid, and then no more roads can be built until the Webster-Northfield road is completed, closing the gap between Ypsilanti and Ann Arbor.

Forest Roberts was elected by the board to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of R. J. Bird on the good roads commission.

The appropriation of $7,500 was passed for the Red Cross. The board passed this appropriation at the October session, but it was held up by an injunction.

WILL CONSOLIDATE THREE COUNTY BANDS

James Hart announces the consolidation of three county bands,

Otto's band and the Masonic band of Ann Arbor and the Ypsilanti band, into a concert band of 40 pieces, with Mr. Hart as leader. This will undoubtedly give Washtenaw county one of the best band organizations in the state.

Julius Haarer will be in charge of all engagements where less than 25 men are used and will play under the name of Otto's band. The entire band is to have charge of all Masonic engagements and will play under the name of Ann Arbor Masonic band.

Mr. Hart, who has a personal acquaintance with all the musicians, was unanimously chosen as the musical director. It is also stated that the band will function as a 40-piece band or will, when desired, break up into smaller bands.

BIG MASONIC FAIR NOW IN FULL SWING

The Masonic country fair is now in full swing at the Masonic temple. The doors were thrown open to the public Tuesday night and from the opening night until the close Saturday evening there is something doing every minute. Entertainment of all kinds is there for your enjoyment; dancing each evening for those who like to trip the ligh fantastic toe; booths of every description, where you can buy anything under the sun from a toy whistle to a diamond ring; barkers are crying their wares. The policeman is on the job to see that order is maintained. "By heck" was over last night and said that he wouldn't miss a night "not by a darned sight."

Well, anyhow, it is worth going to and you don't want to miss it. The committee in charge told us that on Saturday night the big special event would be pulled off and that a record crowd would be present.

YPSILANTI WOMAN'S CLUB

The Ypsilanti Woman's club enjoyed a very interesting program on Rheims, the heart of France, at their meeting Wednesday afternoon in the Literary clubhouse. The papers were "Art Works Destroyed by the War," by Mrs. Olin Eckley, and "Rheims Historically Considered," by Mrs. John McCann. This Story alone is worth $1

THE MILLIONS whose hearts were touched by the story of "Tess of the Storm Country" or who were equally affected by the sweet, pathetic little heroine as acted on the screen by Mary Pickford, will be charmed by this new tale of the squatter folk who once lived on Lake Cayuga, a few miles outside of Ithaca, N.Y. Polly herself, crude and untaught, but beautiful in face and fine in spirit, is an adorable heroine, loyal through thick and thin, tempestuous at times when her anger is aroused by wrong or injustice, but tenderness itself to all weak and helpless creatures.

The situations in "Storm Country Polly" are tensely emotional, skillfully portrayed and adroitly handled, and the reader's sympathy with Polly and her people never lapses from start to finish.

ENTERTAINMENT AND TUBERCULOSIS.

Looks like the folks hereabouts were going to step up and do something for the "T. B. boys" after all. As everybody knows, the American Legion of the state of Michigan has taken over the task of caring for the boys who have contracted the dread disease, consumption.

These boys left their homes in the joy of young manhood and perfect health to help fight the world's battles; they won them. But in winning these battles they lost that which means everything to the young American—health.

Lack of food, exposure—that is a story that will live forever in strong men's minds, as well as in history.

Today these boys are still fighting; they won our battles; they are now fighting for their very lives. They are fighting tuberculosis.

We are not asking you to donate a penny. Everyone must be amused; amusement has become a part of the daily life of the average American.

We are going to put on a big show, with 75 of our public spirited townspeople in the cast.

You must be amused. Let us amuse you. Buy a ticket for our "Keep Off the Grass" show to be given at the Wuerth theatre Friday, April 28.

In this show we guarantee it to be worth every penny of your money.

Every cent over and above the actual expenses (and our books will be open to everyone's inspection) will go to aid the T. B. boys at Roosevelt hospital, Camp Custer.

Have a good time, your money's worth, and at the same time help us help them.

Fordson TRACTOR

"Yes I've more Time for Myself Since I Got a Fordson"

The Fordson Tractor is taking much of the drudgery out of farm life; it is solving the labor problem; it is reducing the cost of preparing land by almost one half of what it was with horses; and it is saving one third to one half of the farmer's time; and making farm life more attractive.

The Fordson will run your threshing machine—and at the most opportune time for you. It will operate the milking machines, saw your wood, fill your silo, pump the water, and take care of every kind of belt work.

And don't forget—it will plow six to eight acres in a ten hour day, handling two plows with ease.

Thus the Fordson is the ideal year-round tractor. It will pay for its fall and winter keep in many ways.

There's a big story to tell you about the Fordson—and a true one—come in and get the facts. Or, if you prefer, telephone or drop us a card and we will bring them to you.

LADIES LIBRARY REPORT

Number of volumes March 31, 11,646; number volumes added by purchase, 393; number volumes March 31, 1922, 11,039.

The circulation of books for the year was 26,972; number of open days was 298; average number of volumes issued per day, 90.

In arranging the children's room a number of books have accumulated that were no longer in use, and having no room for storage it was decided to give them to parties who would care for and use them. The ladies of St. Luke were given 94 volumes, to be sent to New Mexico, where they were greatly needed; 24 volumes to the boys at Willis; six volumes to a family in the north, and eight volumes to the county house at Christmas time; 86 volumes were worn out and discarded, making a total of 214 volumes.

Through the generosity of Mrs. Watling, one of the founders of the Ladies' library and for years an interested worker on the library board, the ladies of the board have been enabled to fit up a bright, sunny room for the especial use of children and older boys and girls not yet interested in books for people of mature years. With its fresh curtains, its wonderfully nice tables and chairs, its sunny windows; it is an ideal place for "the children's room" and they are delighted with it.

With this gift was another of a sum of money placed in the bank, the interest of which is to be used to purchase books suitable for children from six to 12 years of age. This supplied a long felt want in our library, which we had not felt able before to gratify, and I am sure that the ladies of the board and of the association, as well as the children and librarians are alike grateful to the mother of Winifred Watling for her dear thought for our little ones. The room will be called the Winifred Watling room and is a memorial to the little daughter who died at the age of 11 years.

While we consider this the red-letter event of the year, many other friends of the library have remembered it most liberally as the following list will show:

Acknowledgment is also made to the many who have kindly given pamphlets and periodicals: Miss Alma Blount, one volume; Mrs. C. F. Comstock, 16 volumes; Miss Lotta Coombs, one volume; Rev. C. H. Elliott, 12 volumes; Miss Alice Gilbert, one volume, Spirit of Missions; Charles Lamb, The Witaness; Mrs. Sarah George, one volume; J. Stuart Lathers, 10 volumes; Rev. B. Levering, one volume; Mrs. M. McGough, one volume; D. L. Quirk, two volumes; Miss L. Strong, 25 volumes; J. Spargo (author), one volume; C. R. Slight (author), one volume; Mr. Welsh, one volume; Mrs. Janet G. Wyckoff, two volumes; Mr. Robert Hemphill, 12 magazines each month.

Each Saturday morning an hour is given (from 10 to 11 o'clock) to story telling to the children.

Madam President, Members of the Board and of the Association:

This 4th day of April, 1922, marks our annual meeting and the 53rd anniversary of the founding of the association.

This has been an eventful year, as all years are, whether they appear as such to ourselves or not.

We have had ten meetings, attended on an average by seven board members; and our president, secretary and treasurer were present at every meeting.

The beginning of the year found us in straits financially. We were in debt at the bank, with no visible means of paying same, as our ordinary running expenses had to be met. A committee of three, including our president, Mrs. Barbour, interviewed the city council, and were rewarded by our being given an additional $400, or $200 per month. The ways and means committee was exceedingly gracious and gave the board due credit for its careful management of the affairs of the library. We have gotten our coal through the city, at a cost to date of $119.77.

The outlay for the upkeep of the building and for incidentals has been negligible. With the selling of the camp chairs and piano disappeared the last reminders of the days when the board rented the building for parties, lectures, etc., to obtain money for the library maintenance.

The bookcases donated by Dr. and Mrs. Hull have been fitted to our needs, thus giving us much additional shelf room.

Another source of satisfaction is the completion of the south room downstairs for the children, to be known as the Winifred Watling Memorial reading room. The ceiling and woodwork have been repainted, battleship linoleum placed on the floor, scrim curtains on the windows, pictures, attractive for the children, put on three sides of the room (these the gift and work of Mrs. Davis and Miss Rexford; three oak tables and 16 chairs (antique finish); a beautiful painting of the child for whom the room is named is placed over the mantel, and a picture of the donor, Mrs. Watling, is also on the wall.

The formal opening of the room was to have occurred in October, but because of an accident to Mrs. Watling the date had to be deferred. We are hoping it may take place not later than May.

Our records at present show but two honorary members of the association, 26 life members and 15 associate members.

We have lost by death this year two life members, Mrs. Mary V. Deibel and Rev. Frank Kennedy, and one honorary member, Mrs. Edmund Hewitt.

Mrs. Deibel, a faithful member of the board for 33 years, and Mrs. Hewitt, the last member, save one, of the band of loyal women who founded the association 53 years ago and who was for many years its treasurer.

Every year brings its duties, but be the honor given to those who, in the early days, surmounted difficulties and laid the foundation of a work which has proven to be so worth while.

For a detailed statement of the number and condition of our books and the financial status of the board I refer you to our librarian, Mrs. Loomis, and our treasurer, Mrs. Gorton.

Respectfully submitted,
NORA MURPHY,
Recording Secretary.

We have read many times of a reporter's adventures in getting the news for his paper. Perhaps an account of the work involved in some country reporters' efforts will not be amiss. The phones are out as a result of the recent sleet storm (Is this fact news?, so two "newspaper women" who reside in a nearby, up-to-date community decided on a new departure, the one to take her driving horse for the trip, the two to co-laborate on the items. The two reporters, be it known, represent two different papers. The necessity for going back to the primitive fashion of using a horse was the fact that the family "car" (drivers both, by the way) in each case had previous engagements of importance and neither of the reporters have learned the intricacies of a Ford as yet. Monday morning broke and a deluge was on, but there was the family cares and labors incident to Monday morning, so each was busy and when the weather man decided it had rained enough for today the ladies dressed suitably in case he changed their minds? started on the road to cover their territory. The first noticeable result of the downpour was the roadside ditches, full to the banks and in some places overflowing and the culverts making a brave effort, judging from the eddies and bubbles, to carry off the extra accumulation of water. The road was surprisingly good with the exception of two or three places, in one of which it seemed for a breathless moment or two we would be "stuck" but our faithful pony "carried on" and was rewarded with our praises when we were past the danger spot. It was fierce for a little though. One stretch of nearly a mile the sand had washed so badly that there were no wheel marks visible; the road-bed was level. In several places good sized washouts were started. Some places the fields were partly under water and others looked sodden, although the surface water had either drained off or soaked in. Many places the trees are just as the sleet storm left them, with broken limbs hanging on the ground, covered with large branches, lying where they fell. Part of the drive was on the road south from Ypsilanti and there the telephone poles were nearly all down. On other roads, however, the poles are standing with the wires swinging, so the work of repairing the damage there will be much less than where the poles are down. Many farmers are working at fences, either building or repairing. Fall sown grain was very fine on some farms and medium on others, one fine looking field being about one-third under water. Paint creek, usually a quiet, shallow stream, was in ugly mood and foamed and rushed along, in some places seriously out of bounds. In several places the water from the roadside ditches ran across the road. In such places our pony, a dainty lady who dislikes getting her feet wet, looked disgustedly at the pools and slowly and carefully picked her way across. The people where we called? Oh, yes, everyone busy, as women always are—house cleaning, fixing the flower gardens, getting bulbs planted and telling various happenings of the day. In one thing there was united opinion: "Isn't it dreadful not to have any telephone to use?" and, by the way, we encountered two small showers of rain and gathered considerable news for our respective papers.

On their return home as they were turning off Huron street onto State street in Ann Arbor a large Paige car ran into their car, demolishing one wheel and one fender and the back of their car, seriously injuring Mrs. Fulton. Road Commissioner Bailey brought them home, stopping at Dr. Kellogg's to have Mrs. Fulton, who is a niece of A. A. Boutell, of Ypsilanti, cared for. She has a dangerous cut above the right eye and a slight concussion of the brain and is seriously bruised about the neck and right shoulder. Her right hip is also badly bruised. Mr. Fulton and daughter escaped with only a severe shaking up.

DOES YOUR COMPLEXION RIVAL THE ROSE'S?

A pretty girl should look her best in the morning—awakening with flower-like freshness of complexion, welcoming the revelations of searching sunshine.

Such charm is not necessarily a gift of nature, but the result of knowing what your skin needs—of giving it the intelligent daily care which makes it bloom with health.

The secret is a thorough cleansing every day to remove all dirt, surplus cold cream, rouge and powder. This can only be done with soap.

The soap must be mild, balmy and soothing in its action. Palmolive is such a soap. It is the scientific blend of Palm and Olive oils, the cosmetic cleansers of Cleopatra.

You can buy Palmolive Soap at all first class groceries and drug stores.

Rudolph Valentino and Dorothy Dalton

IN

"Moran of the Lady Letty"

"Shanghaied!" That's the fate of Rudolph Valentino, playing the leading supporting role in "Moran of the Lady Letty," the George Melford production. "Shanghaied" is the forcible abduction of an unwary citizen who awakens from a stupor to find himself on the high seas at the mercy of a brutal bucko mate or master.

Dorothy Dalton, playing the featured role, "Moran," says her role is one of the most unusual she has been called upon to portray—that of a woman who dresses like a man and commands a ship, battling with rough seamen and Chinese miscreants, and who finally is conquered by love.

Storm Country Polly

By GRACE MILLER WHITE

a minister far back in the hills. Evelyn had explained that for some time to come no one but the three must know of the marriage.

Polly had learned a great many things in two years! What girl does not after she's passed her fifteenth birthday? One of the things she had found out was that Oscar was a dreadful person, more dreadful than most of the squatter men. Of course the men folks of her people did beat their women, now and then. That was their right without any question. The blood colored even her ears as she remembered how Oscar lectured his wife for the money it was so hard for Evelyn to get. Another thing she had come to understand was that, if Oscar had not been afraid of the powerful Robertson family, he would have forced Evelyn into his home long before this, it had been a hard two years' task to keep him quiet.

"Mebbe you are gettin' sick, Oscar," she interposed. "I don't know—mebbe; but you know what that old Miss Robertson would do to you an' her girl if you told. You'd get Eve, mebbe, but you sure wouldn't get any more money."

The man's face darkened. "That's just the rub," he conceded, "but at that Eve ain't playin' square with me. The Robertsons have money to burn, and she deals it out to me in small little dollars. I tell you I'm sick of the whole thing."

Polly noted the glitter in Bennett's angry eyes and felt again the quiver of fear.

"She gives you all she gets her fingers on," she came back at him in defense of the absent Evelyn. "Lots of times she's got along on about nothin' to send you cash, an' didn't I come runnin' up here with it as soon as she give it to me? Now her ma's gettin' on that Eve ain't spendin' her money on herself, an' she watches 'er like a hawk does a chicken. She told me that only yesterday."

The squatter girl rose to her feet, anxious to be gone.

"Oscar, you might be lettin' me have just a wee bit of milk. You ain't losin' nothin' through me."

She picked up the pail, and with a growl the man snatched it out of her hand.

"Women're a d-d nuisance," he grumbled. "Well, wait here."

He went out of the room, and Polly Hopkins drew a long breath. It was getting harder every day to get the milk she needed.

When Bennett returned, she was standing with her hand on the door knob, ready to go. In silence she took the pail he offered her.

"Looka here, Pollyop," he began abruptly, as Polly opened the door.

"I Didn't Ask You for Money."

"What's to hinder your paying for your milk yourself?"

He said it with extreme deliberation, making emphatic the last words.

Polly threw up her head and eyed him sharply. "I run my legs most off for you as 'tis, Oscar," she retorted, "between here and the Robertsons'; but I don't never have no money. You know that, an' Daddy Hopkins don't get much, either. If I had a dollar, I bet I'd spend every penny of it fillin' up Jerry an' Daddy an' Granny Hope with milk an' eggs." To make him understand how anxious she was to please him, she went forward a pace. "An' I'd buy 'em all of you, Oscar. That's as true as Granny Hope's God is settin' up in the sky."

FIRST PRODUCTION IN MICHIGAN OF THE ST. MATTHEW PASSION BY BACH.

Frederick Alexander announces the greatest choral concert ever given in Ypsilanti and from the point of view of distinguished achievement by amateur singers of one of the world's greatest masterpieces it may be considered epoch-making for the middle west. Bach's St. Matthew Passion is rarely heard anywhere in the world and never outside the great music-loving centers where some devotee of the supreme things in choral writing has the courage and the insight required for the mastery and a group of singers young enough to be flexible and imaginative and sufficiently earnest to struggle for a lofty ideal. Under Prof. Alexander's leadership the 300 singers in Jackson and Ypsilanti have devoted many hours of enthusiastic rehearsal to this great work and they are now ready for the public production. A choir of children from the training school (75 voices) has been beautifully prepared by Miss Foster to sing the old "Agnus Dei" in the first great double chorus which forms the prologue to the work and a gallery choir under Mrs. Erickson's leadership will sing Chorales in response to the story of the Passion as read by Dr. Chester B. Emerson, of Detroit, who is the narrator. No seats will be reserved, but tickets at 50 cents each will be on sale Wednesday in the main corridor of the main building. The choirs expect to produce the work in Jackson and Detroit. It is a great honor to the college and to Ypsilanti to have this world-renowned masterpiece get its first hearing in Michigan here.

After a short wedding trip they will be at home at 319 Miles street.
